Introduction

While management is responsible for the day-to-day operations of VantageOne Credit Union, the Board of Directors holds ultimate fiduciary responsibility. This includes safeguarding members' rights and financial assets, as well as setting the organization's risk appetite.

Directors play a critical role in shaping policies and long-term objectives, guiding the strategic direction of the credit union, and ensuring robust processes and controls are in place to identify, manage, and monitor risks.

Serving as a director requires a significant investment of time, energy, and expertise—but it is also a rewarding opportunity to make a meaningful impact on the success and future of VantageOne Credit Union.

Composition of VantageOne's Board

VantageOne's Board of Directors is currently composed of eight directors: elected by the members. The number of directors is determined by the Rules of the Credit Union.

In 2026, there are two Director vacancies, each for a three-year term beginning after the Annual General Meeting in May.

Director Competencies

In conjunction with the expectations of our regulator, VantageOne is looking for directors with diverse skill sets, business knowledge, alignment with cooperative principles, values of the credit union system, and strategic and innovative thinking.

We are specifically seeking those with an accounting, legal and/or regulatory background to complement our existing board composition.

See Appendix A for a detailed description of board competency skills.

Board Diversity

VantageOne's Board encourages expressions of interest from candidates who reflect a diversity of backgrounds, problem solving approaches, gender and cultural heritage.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS COMPETENCY PROFILE

This document outlines the key competency areas required to effectively lead VantageOne Credit Union as a Director. These competencies help the Board identify both strengths and opportunities for development, ensuring we maintain a skilled and dynamic team of Directors.

Board diversity plays a vital role in enhancing organizational performance, governance, and innovation. VantageOne is committed to fostering diversity by recognizing the unique perspectives and competencies each individual brings to the role. Our goal is to achieve diversity of thought at the Board level—not through rigid processes, but by promoting awareness and encouraging a broad range of viewpoints.

Board competencies have been established in the following categories:

1. Behavioural Competencies – Directors should demonstrate these competencies to be an effective member of the Board.
2. Base Level Business Competencies - These represent the foundational knowledge required for Directors to actively participate in Board discussions and understand key concepts essential for overseeing the business. 3. Expert/Technical Competencies – These are expectations for the board as a whole. It is expected that each board member will be a primary expert in only one or two of these areas.

Each year, the Board evaluates themselves against these competencies to identify specific areas needed on the board. This self-assessment uses a scale of 0 to 5.

To make these levels easier to understand, they are explained using the analogy of writing a book on the subject, as outlined below:

- 0 – No knowledge or competency in this area (i.e. never seen the book)
- 1 – Familiarity with competency area (seen the book)
- 2 – Basic understanding of competency area (read the book once)
- 3 – Good understanding of competency area (read the book a few times)
- 4 – Strong understanding of competency area (could write a chapter or chapters)
- 5 – Mastery of the competency area (could write the book)
